Whole House Water Treatment

Protecting Your Family At Every Tap In Your Home.

For years water softeners, and reverse osmosis drinking water systems have been the only means of reliably treating water in homes. These are expensive, wasteful, and out dated technologies that require monthly maintenance and care.

Recent scientific developments have made it possible for the average homeowner to now treat the water at every tap in their home inexpensively, efficiently and with no monthly maintenance. These technologies have all come together to form the WaterGlen whole house water processing system by Hanish Water.
